Dreamworld Brings All Kinds of Happy to the School Holidays

Trucks are currently rolling into Dreamworld with cargo for the Brickman Awesome Exhibition, made entirely of LEGO® bricks, making up part of Dreamworld's AWESOME school holiday fun.

The shipping crates are being unpacked, so The Brickman, Ryan McNaught, and his team can piece together the segments of 39 exclusive LEGO® models together tomorrow, for this weekend's opening.

Comprising more than 2 million bricks and totalling over 5,000 hours of build-time, Brickman Awesome will showcase LEGO® brick models like you've never seen before!

"We're on track to open this Saturday 15 September and we're really excited to see another incredible attraction open at Dreamworld," Philip Hancox, General Manager Marketing says.

"Dreamworld is so unique and versatile. This exhibition will be another brick of excitement and imagination we're adding to Australia's largest theme park."

Brickman Awesome will also open for two exclusive nights next weekend so guests can experience the awesomeness, separately from the theme park, after dark.

Sunset Safaris will also be available soon, so guests can harness their wild side while they encounter Dreamworld's wildlife after park hours.

By day, take a walk on the wild side with our tiger cubs Melati and Mya, before they make their big adventure to Canberra in October, to spread the important message of conservation.

And keep your Trolls' glitter in your pockets because the Bawd brothers are making their comeback, and they have their eyes on all things sparkly and gold.

The infamous Bushrangers are set to wreak havoc on the Dreamworld Express once again – bringing back an iconic Dreamworld experience.

With so much to see these school holidays, book your Dreamworld Season Pass today at Dreamworld.com.au
